MILTON HIGH

MILTON,

"God has given us this peaceful place."

Motto of Milton

FROM England they came, and from Ireland and Scotland and France, seeking a quiet corner of the New World. They built their town between a placid river that meandered seaward and a chain of low undulating hills, and they called it Milton.

Their Milton was one of sun-dappled orchards and low stone walls, one of budding cornfields and split-rail fences. While they drove their cattle homeward at twilight time, in another part of town, the bronzed Indian glided through the shadowy corridors of lofty pines in the Blue Hills. In time, one after another of the white men clasped in his a copper hand, and all became brothers. Thus, from its founding, Milton exuded that spirit of equality and comradeship common to all small towns.

The times changed and Milton with them. A gristmill appeared on the Neponset, and the Hanover stage clattered through East Milton on its weekly run. But these were not the only changes. For more important events were in the making. As vague murmurings of discontent filtered from Boston into this tranquil town, loyalists were regarded with suspicion and patriotic citizens became orators in local taverns. Then, less than twelve decades after its founding, Milton was swept into the current of war fever that ran through New England. The American Revolution had come.

Revolutionary Milton was an exciting spot; it was here that Tories fled to protect their country homes, here that patriots prepared for war and marched to join the troops at Boston, here that Paul Revere picked up the Suffolk Resolves and clattered off to Philadelphia with them. After the last battle smoke had vanished, after the last Tory had fled, Milton stood a small part of a growing nation.

And she changed accordingly. The industrial boom did not leave Milton untouched. The first chocolate mill in America was built here. The first railroad stretched from East Milton to the granite quarries of Quincy. Banks and trust companies were established. Roads were improved. The horseless carriage came, bringing with it the age of automation.

Time passed and war came. Again the little town was plunged into strife — this time with not one, but with an alliance of foreign powers. Boys from Milton went to France, to the Philippines, to Korea to fight so that the ideals of democracy might be preserved. Some returned; others did not.

But their town went on. Today the moccasin prints have vanished from the Blue Hills, and the clatter of coaches and a famous patriot's steed no longer echo through the streets. The once-proud Tory mansions have given way to neat suburban homes, and the granite railroad has long since disappeared.

The past is gone, but not forgotten. There are a few landmarks to remind us of our town's history. But, perhaps more important, there live today in Milton the ideals and principles upon which the town was founded. That is why we who live here say that our town is more than a town — Milton is a way of life.

The Principal's Message

MR. E. FRANCIS KANE
Salem State Teachers College, B.S.
Boston College, Ed.M., L.L.B.

To the Class of Nineteen Sixty-two:

Your graduation from Milton High School is another experience in your life that you will share with millions of other American youths.

In no other country in the world is secondary education so widespread. It is typical of America to educate all who will take advantage of the opportunities offered to each one. You are the recipients of this rich heritage.

Your graduation comes at a most challenging time. This year of nineteen sixty-two marks the three hundredth anniversary of the founding of the town of Milton, three hundred years of great historical significance. This is a time when society is demanding the best from all of us to cope with both national and international problems. Because of the role of world leadership that has been thrust upon our government in these trying times, our every effort appears geared to meet succeeding emergencies and crises.

In answer to our President's challenge of what one can do to help his country, he need only to consider the freedoms each individual has the right to enjoy—a free government, freedom of the individual in religion and communication, freedom from fear, freedom in any activity within the framework of the laws established to protect the liberties and freedoms of all, and finally political and economic freedom. What will you contribute to maintain these freedoms while we assist our less fortunate neighbors in all parts of the world?

You are fortunate to be a member of a generation that is witnessing the awe-inspiring beginnings of the exciting space age. One thrills to learn that the success of these great advances in knowledge is assessed to be the result of teamwork. In this and countless other fields of endeavor, your opportunities are limitless.

We hope that you have laid the groundwork during your high school career to continue the everlasting quest for knowledge that society demands of each one of its citizens.

May each member of the Class of Nineteen Sixty-two accept his freedoms and his responsibilities with a determined resolution to contribute his talents toward a continuous growth in a free society.

Literary Publications

The staffs of Milton High School's two literary publications devoted many hours of planning, writing, and editing to the preparation of the Yearbook and the "Unquity Echo."

The seniors of the Yearbook staff, under their adviser, Mr. Fidler, sought to present in the 1962 edition a graphic record of the personalities and activities of their class and to honor the town of Milton on the 300th anniversary of its incorporation. At general staff meetings and meetings of its various committees the Yearbook staff planned the contents of this book and submitted copy for editing and publication.

The seniors and juniors of the "Unquity Echo" staff, under the guidance of Miss Nelson, planned the winter and spring editions of the school magazine. In addition to writing articles of their own, staff members read and edited articles submitted by their fellow students. The themes of the two issues of the "Echo" this year were "The American Attitude" and "Teenage Contributions." In both its issues the "Unquity Echo" staff sponsored literary contests judged by members of the faculty and awarded cash prizes to the winners.

Besides rendering a service to the students of Milton High School, the Yearbook and "Echo" staffs gained valuable experience in journalism from their work.

Business Staff and Collectors

The "Echo" Business Staff, working with its homeroom collectors, planned and carried out the fund-raising program for the two issues of the "Unquity Echo" magazine and for the 1962 Yearbook. Under the capable guidance of Miss Wiley and Miss Elzbut the staff and collectors sold subscriptions and Senior Play tickets and solicited advertisers and boosters for the Yearbook. In addition, they secured funds from the football concessions, where they added to the list of refreshments available at the games fresh popcorn made by their newly-acquired machine. Without the aid of the two hard-working groups pictured here this book could not have been published.

YEARBOOK COLLECTORS

Dramatic Club

The members of the Dramatic Club strove to achieve success in their performances and to bring enjoyment to everyone. During the year they entertained their audiences with several productions: the Senior Class Play, the Girls League Play, and their contribution to the Drama Festival. Often members also performed in plays produced elsewhere in the town.

Each member did his part seriously and energetically. No matter what the occasion, club members took pride in their productions and derived enjoyment from them during tryouts, meetings, rehearsals, and, of course, the performances themselves. With the help of Miss Cave and Mrs. Jachney the Dramatic Club, we are sure, will continue to produce fine performances and bring pleasure to all.

SENIOR PLAY

Band

For the first time since it was formed, the Milton High School Band was able to meet every day during school time. In addition to the time during school provided for practice, there have been regularly scheduled ensembles and night rehearsals, and with good results. Under the directorship of Mr. Edward D'Amico, five performances, in addition to pep rallies and football games, have proven the polished performance of the High School Band: a Christmas concert, two exchange concerts with the Manchester Memorial High School Band, a Spring concert, and a program at graduation. Mr. D'Amico has said, "It has been difficult for the band to get accustomed to the peculiarities of a new conductor and new music, but I feel that the members of the band have succeeded in doing so." With an expected forty-five members in the band next year, Milton High School can again look forward to not only a fine marching band, but also to a fine concert band.

CHEERLEADERS

Samuelian, S. Stenberg. Third row: E. Hemstreet, D. Deering, J. Ellenwood, H. Hackley, R. Hogan, T. DeLorme, J. Starr, M. Swartz.

Glee Club

This year the Glee Club has seen many changes. The membership was increased, and three rehearsals were held each week instead of the one in previous years. Another addition to the glee club was the a cappella choir. Composed of sixteen of the club's members, including president Katheryn Norcott, this group met once a week for rehearsals.

Under the superb direction of Mr. Francis Tatro, the two organizations have given many enjoyable performances throughout the year. With the increase of both rehearsals and membership, this year's club has rapidly improved and has done much to entertain its audiences.

Jazz Club

In October, 1961, the first applications for the Jazz Club were taken. Although there was a turnout of about 160 students, nearly one-fifth of the school, the club seemed destined for disaster. In fact, merely the mention of the club was a big joke early in the year. However, with Miss Dorner as adviser the members really enjoyed the meetings. Members brought in recordings, which were played and discussed. Since the field of jazz is so large, each week a new and interesting aspect of it was presented. The club consisted of eight seniors and four juniors, although it was formed with all three classes in mind.

Front row: R. Cullati, R. Couper, K. MacWilliam, D. McNeil, M. Lamb, G. Bloom. Second row: A. Pappas, K. Gustafson, N. Drevitch, H. Sheppard, J. Starr, W. Mullen.

Honor Students and National Honor Society

Through our years at Milton High School we have found scholarship to be a worthy goal. We now congratulate the seniors who have maintained honor grades during their sophomore, junior, and senior years.

Some of our students have attained even higher standards and have been recognized by membership in the National Honor Society. This organization stimulates desire to render service, promotes worthy leadership, and encourages the development of character. Our chapter came into being through the efforts of Mr. Kane and Mr. Woodbury. The faculty council, under the direction of Mr. Francis X. Tracy, offers its recommendations in the choice of candidates.

The qualities taken into consideration for membership include scholarship, character leadership, service, and participation in extra-curricular activities. A motto of the members may very well be Goethe's verse:

Know is not enough; we must apply.
Willing is not enough; we must do.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Gilman, P. Fitz, H. Baker, E. Cone. Third row: R. Vengrow, D. Kaufman, B. Harkins, S. Ross, M. Katz, A. Nicholas, P. Leussler, A. Dunphy.

Nurse's Aides

One of the Girls League's most outstanding functions is its program of Nurse's Aides. This organization, under the direction of Miss Wiley and the Civics Committee, renders a valuable community service. Members are assigned to certain days and are asked to report once every two weeks to the Milton Hospital. The girls obtain personal satisfaction in watching the patients respond to their efforts and kindness. The hospital staff members are quick to show their gratitude to the girls for making their hard work a little easier.

At the end of the school year the hospital gives a banquet for all regular Nurse's Aides. Certificates of service are awarded to these volunteers.

Girls League

This year the girls of Milton High School have enjoyed the activities and the benefits of the Girls League. Under the capable leadership of Nancy Kiernan and the members of the executive board and the friendly guidance of Miss Miller, the Girls League has arranged many activities. Some of the highlights of this year's program were the Candlelight Initiation Service, the Mothers' Tea with the presentation of a play, and of course the Christmas Dance. The remainder of the year was filled with various functions and activities climaxed by the presentation of a scholarship from funds earned by the Girls League. This organization is of great value to all the girls of Milton High School.

Library Club

A wise man by the name of Charles Kingsley once said, "Except a living man there is nothing more wonderful than a book!" This could well be the motto of Milton High School's fine Library Club. Under the keen scrutiny of Mrs. Pile, the club held its annual Book Fair, teachers' tea, and assembly program. In addition to these big projects there were book reviews, guest speakers, and numerous tasks which the club members performed to provoke further interest in books.

Library Assistants

Our Library Assistants are people to be praised. These students relinquish their free periods to help Mrs. Pile, the school librarian, perform such jobs as stamping and checking books, shelving them, putting up displays, and typing catalog cards. These assistants are responsible for the excellent service given to pupils and faculty and help to make the George C. Marsden Library a desirable place to study, to do research work, or to just plain browse.

Student Council and Homeroom Delegation

The Milton High School Student Council also celebrates an anniversary this year – for twenty-five years it has been directing the social and civic projects of the student body. This year the Student Council and Homeroom Delegation, elected by the classes and the individual homerooms respectively, have again undertaken many worthwhile projects under the capable supervision of Miss Foster. A typical project this year was the development of a library on parliamentary procedures by collecting books and pamphlets and by showing films to interested students.

Money for the projects is raised by rummage sales and candy sales. This spring the Council members attended the National, Eastern Division, and State Conventions, where they contributed ideas and learned more about fund-raising activities and social events.

Indeed, we congratulate the Student Council and Homeroom Delegation members on their commendable work.

Cross Country

The Milton High hill-and-dalers experienced their best record ever in The Bay State League, posting seven wins against only one loss, and finishing second to undefeated Needham. The co-captains were Jerry Burns and Peter Sullivan. Voted most valuable was Henry Tuohy, who finished first in every meet save one, and set two course records; John Lobban was considered most improved. Although seven seniors will graduate, a strong nucleus of five lettermen will return next fall. Under the direction of Coach Mullin they should do well.

Soccer

This year's edition of our Soccer team was the defensive giant in the Bay State League. Led by Mr. Zero (Goalie Jack Ferreira, that is) and high scoring co-Captain Fran Finizio, the squad finished third in its second year of league competition.

Mr. Hale is, and has every right to be, proud of his team. So, too, are all the teachers and students.

Succeeding co-Captains Finizio and Dave Burns are Eddie and Jim (no relation) O'Neill.

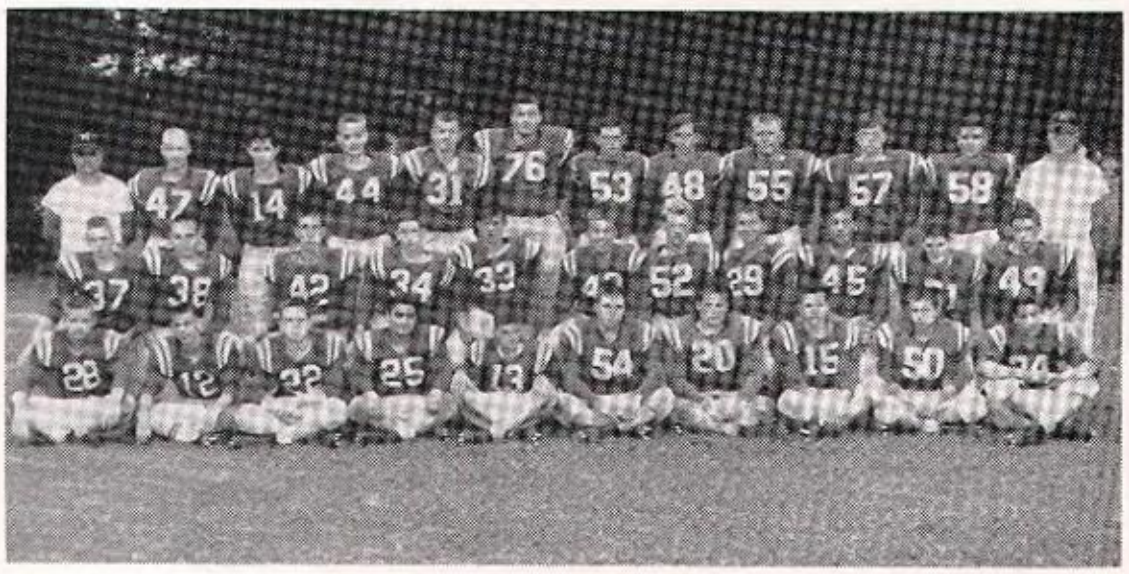
Most Massachusetts coaches feel that the Bay State League is the most improved and best balanced league in the state. To finish second with a seven and two record is quite an accomplishment for a team whose record two years ago was zero and nine. A look at the record shows how close they came to an undefeated season. Two-touchdown losses to undefeated Wellesley and powerful Framingham marred their otherwise perfect record.

There was a different hero, it seemed, each game. Lineman Jack Oliva and Bill Farrington, and quarterback Johnny Morris were elected to the All-South Shore team, honors richly deserved. Morris and Farrington were co-winners of the Owen B. Kiernan award for their part in the 30-0 mauling of Braintree on Thanksgiving Day.

Sometimes completely overlooked – usually because it has no Seniors – is the Junior Varsity squad. This year we feel it should receive recognition for a job well done. Enjoying little of the limelight of their Varsity counterparts, these ready, willing, and able youngsters are the main reason why Milton High School's record for 1961 reads seven wins in nine games.

To the coaches, the players, the bench warmers, the managers, the students who cheered so loud and long, to all who contributed in any way to this great season – may we say, "Well done!"



J. V. FOOTBALL

Basketball

Exciting basketball was the order of the day in the Bay State League gyms this year. M.H.S. held its own with a ten-and-ten record. We'll miss seniors, Bates, Elsden, McDonnell, Oliva, and Rowe. Coach Gadaire, though, optimistically looks forward to next season with the return of some promising juniors and sophomores.

Indoor Track

As usual, the Milton Indoor Track Squad ended its season undefeated. Not content with this, three records were shattered. In the shot-put, it was Fred Hammel; in the high jump, Lanny Drevitch; the team of Glickman, Finizio, Tuohy, and Pave set a new relay mark. We salute Coach Adams and his boys who have honored Milton High School.

Hockey

Although Milton High's hockey team had only five wins against eight losses and one tie in league competition, our pucksters had an impressive overall record of fourteen wins, nine losses, and two ties. The squad's co-captains were Paul Needham, goalie Kevin Quinlan, and high-scorer Dave Marad. Our ice squad defeated many formidable opponents including Hingham, Weymouth, Boston Latin, Milton Academy, Natick, Dedham, and Thayer Academy.

Wrestling

The wrestling team clawed its way to a second-place finish in the State Tourney at Needham and a six-and-four record in league competition, which placed it third behind undefeated Braintree and state champion Needham. The Lighter Side

Maybe these ARE the happiest days of our lives . . . All our lives parents have drilled into us that no matter how miserable our school days have been they are the "happiest days of your life and some day you'll realize it." Let's take a peek back over the shoulder of 1962 and see how correct this statement is . . . or isn't.

Well, there were the "study" periods in the cafeteria . . . And what a riot we thought Mr. Kane was when he said he'd shut off the water coolers . . . They tell us that "Time won't stand still." Maybe so, but it's been 9:32 in 218 since 1936 . . . And we wonder why they call them LOCKers . . . And a note from a parent that said: "Please excuse my son's absence Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday; he overslept." . . . . Sure gave us a chuckle to watch Mr. Dunbar return from a tour of Milton with one of his charges. He'd come up the front steps, head shaking, nerves shattered, mumbling over and over: "The clutch, not the windshield wiper, you . . . " . . . . And, of course, the athlete who received a letter at the Award Assembly but had to have someone read it to him . . . We smiled as we passed Miss Chadwick's Latin III class and overheard "A horse, a horse, my kingdom for a trot!" . . . And some of the self-portraits adorning the bulletin boards gave us a few chuckles . . . Remember the wild enthusiasm of the boys at the Pep Rallies? . . . Not to forget the remote-control history classes in 212 . . . And Mr. Archibald's being asked: "Any scholarships for D– students with no athletic ability?" . . .

The Class of 1962 has received so much from Milton High School that it seems only right to give something to those who have given us so much. And so we bequeath to:

Miss Albret: 6,000,000 3 x 5's for writing that THING

Mr. Kane: Several new combinations for the 8 period day

Mr. Nevins: A cynical senior class . . . and another Dave Marad

Mr. Campbell: A few basic concepts

Mr. Smith: Students who can spell "gass"

Miss Cave: A Ph. D. in Drama . . . and one in Patience

Mr. Pedersen: A Melvin for Mildred . . . and another Dave Marad

Miss Dyas: A Geiger Counter to detect that last Cafeteria study hall whisper

Mr. Tracy: A Santa Claus suit for his pay day rounds

Mr. Hamilton: Bigger and better molecules

Mr. Dunbar: More life insurance

Miss Chadwick: Calix pro aqua

Mr. Snell: Two sides and an included angle

Dr. John: A shorter last name

Miss Foster: Our advice to stay home this summer

Mrs. Jachney: A 'phone book to go with Rm. 216

Mr. Fidler: Elevator shoes . . . he can't quite see over the building

Mr. Kent: A bunch of surprise quizzes

Mr. Carnie: A class that knows debits are near the window and credits are near the blackboard

Miss Depoyan: An hermetically sealed room . . . in the South Pacific . . . to avoid interruptions

Mr. Brimstine: A forgery a day

Mrs. Pile: Ear muffs, to permit sociable chats

The Class of '63: The best of everything good

Epílogue

In our book the futuristic is merged with the traditional. On its pages are Milton of the past and Milton of the future.

May we, the future citizens of Milton, be ever mindful of both the past and the future. Let us be progressive and far-sighted in our thinking, but let us never forget that portion of the past which will remain with us — the experience, the knowledge, and the wisdom we gained at Milton High School.

May we, the Class of 1962, always be proud of and grateful to Milton High School.
